CENTERS FOR SPIRITUAL LIVING NAMES
STEVE BURTON AS NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

GOLDEN, CO (June 1, 2016) – Centers for Spiritual Living has announced the promotion of Steve Burton to the newly created position of Executive Director for the global non-profit. Based in Golden, CO, Centers for Spiritual Living™ (CSL) is a global community comprised of 400 spiritual communities, teaching chapters, study groups and other ministries in 30 countries.

Burton served as the Director of Operations for CSL since joining the organization in 2008. As he steps into the newly established role of Executive Director, Burton will spearhead and streamline the organization’s global priorities and execute an integrated CSL Strategic Plan.

He will also be responsible for the overall program planning, policy development, fiscal management, administration and operation of all Centers for Spiritual Living functions, activities and programs. The Executive Director position reports to the Leadership Council and is supervised by the Chair of the Leadership Council.

“Centers for Spiritual Living is poised for tremendous progress and expansion in the next three to five years,” said Rev. David Alexander, Chair of the CSL Leadership Council. “This is our organization’s first Executive Director, and Steve steps into this newly created position with passion and commitment. He will spearhead our efforts to spread the teaching of Science of Mind across the globe and support our vision of creating a world that works for all.”
